

Florida's best independent propane company

Historically, the propane business was a mom and pop industry of hardworking families, delivering "bottled" gas out of their pickup trucks to members of their community. Much of that has changed with corporate mergers and acquisitions. Today, many customers who at one time bought their propane from a local family owned business, now find themselves dealing with large corporations. In many cases, these mergers have caused prices to rise and customer service to plummet as competition has been limited.

Ideal Gas is a family owned, locally managed propane company servicing Commercial, Industrial, and residential customers from Daytona through Jacksonville.

Experience

The Siegel Family started Siegel Gas in 1934 in Miami and it grew to become the largest independent propane company in Florida, well known for customer service that was above and beyond expectations. The Siegel family and team continue the legacy of Max Siegel by establishing Ideal Gas.

Our managers and service technicians have over 80 years of combined experience, and we can install and service any job, large or small.

Customer Service

Ideal Gas is committed to providing customer service that goes above and beyond your expectations. Our managers live and work in the communities we service, and have for many years. They are your neighbors and your friends and they have one goal: To make sure that your experience with Ideal Gas is the best experience you have ever had with any company.

Price

If you are buying from a large corporation, your price is often set by a board of executives in another state that you have never met. Nationwide, most propane is sold for heating, so your price may reflect market fluctuations in areas that have nothing to do with Florida. At Ideal Gas, we offer competitive pricing set by local management in the local market.
